Some regional restaurants seem to want to be in the big city. Not Ten Minutes by Tractor. It delivers a true sense of place. Assured service from well-groomed staff led by manager Clayton Hiskins and the casually elegant room, which mixes timber and linen with bucolic vineyard views, keep things relaxed but sophisticated. Both the menu and award-winning wine list celebrate the Mornington Peninsula's good stuff with verve. Local Red Hill goat's cheese might be teamed with caramelised tomatoes and a black olive crumb, while hapuku could be paired with baby leeks and Flinders mussels. Desserts run to the elegant likes of local plums roasted and served with pain d'épices ice-cream. The plating is lovely, artful without being overworked, and despite the presence of some molecular tricks (foams, crumb, liquid nitrogen) the quality ingredients shine through. The Peninsula's best.
